DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 16, 2010 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 63-68, 70-73, 76-87, 89-93, 96-108, 110-124 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vega (US 2002/0120554 A1).

Regarding claims 63-64, 78-80, 82-83, 98-100, 102, 108, 114-118, 121-122, Vega discloses a traffic control system (100) comprising:

an interface for communications through the public telephone system (Vega provides for a variety of communication modes including communication over the telephone network; paragraph 47) involving a user (potential purchaser uses a PC, PDA, cellular phone, or the like; paragraph 62) and a responding site (responding service provider) and for receiving inquiry data from a user at an active inquiring user terminal including identification data and type of subject matter data for communication relating to an area of interest (sign up wizard 130 and data input screen 132 collect buyer identification data, paragraph 77, and data defining the nature of services requested, paragraph 88);

Art Unit: 2614

memory storage to receive and store responder data (service provider data is stored in a service provider database 154; paragraphs 82-86); and a processor (processor 204 identifies one or more buyer/service provider matches, paragraph 88, and provides associated video/audio files, paragraph 86).

Regarding claim 65, 84, system 100 allows a buyer to consummate a transaction via a payment retaining system (paragraphs 66, 143).

Regarding claims 66-67, 85-86, 113, 120, buyer request data can include maximum cost (paragraphs 88, 90).

Regarding claims 68, 87, 105, 123, system 100 provides a variety of service applications, e.g. medical services, legal services, accounting services, financial services building services, construction services, architectural services, etc. (paragraphs 54, 82).

Regarding claims 70-72, 76, 89-92, 96, 104, 107, 112, 116, system 100 provides for presenting product information via a variety of text, video/audio communication modes (paragraphs 46, 52, 86, 187, 191).

Regarding claims 73, 93, a buyer can access stored audio files using a telephone (paragraph 62).

Regarding claims 77, 97, 111, 119, buyer information includes credit card information for billing purposes (paragraph 77).

Regarding claims 81, 101, inquiry data can be expressed by voice using voice recognition technology (paragraph 156).

Regarding claim 106, service providers can be selected based on geographic location/geographic coverage (paragraphs 46, 84).

Regarding claim 110, system 100 collects the buyer's email address (paragraph 77).

Regarding claim 115, system 100 includes an operator terminal (trained service consultant to assist customers by way of live chat, phone, audio, video and/or email; paragraph 187).

Regarding claim 124, system 100 allows for face-to-face contact with a service provider using audio and video technologies (paragraph 181).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 69 and 88 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vega in view of Walker et al. (US 5,884,272, hereinafter "Walker").

Vega differs from claims 69 and 88 in that although it provides for a variety of service provider applications, it does not specify a dating service. However, Walker teaches the well known use of a communication system for providing a dating service (col. 7, lines 29 – col. 8, line 40) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to modify the system of Vega to allow for dating service provision as well.

6. Claims 74 and 94 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vega in view of Klingman (US 5,729,594).

Vega differs from claims 74 and 94 in that it does not specify the telephone line as being a caller paid telephone line. However, Klingman, from the same field of endeavor, teaches the well known use of a caller paid telephone line (900 number) for accessing an on-line transaction system such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate such use of a caller paid telephone line, as taught by Klingman, within the system of Vega in order to charge users for accessing the system over the telephone line.

7. Claims 75 and 109 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vega in view of Foster et al. (US 4,897,867, hereinafter “Foster”).

Vega differs from claims 75 and 109 in that it does not specify the use of a check digit. However, Foster teaches the desirability of using a check digit when receiving order information over the telephone lines (col. 7, lines 54-61) such that it would have been obvious to an artisan of ordinary skill to incorporate such use of a check digit, as taught by Foster, within the system of Vega in order to ensure the accurate receipt of user entered information.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed February 16, 2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Vega does not constitute prior art to the claimed invention. However, the claims recite subject matter (e.g. mobile terminals using the wireless mobile network) which is finds it earliest support in parent application 10/323,222, filed December 18, 2002. Vega was filed on February 28, 2001 and qualifies as prior art to the claimed invention.
